The healthy woman need not fear the change which comes at the beginning of life's autumn. It is the woman who is worn out, run down and a sufferer from womanly diseases who naturally dreads the change of life. This is the critical period of woman's life, and the prevalence of womanly diseases makes it the duty of every woman who would avoid unnecessary suffering to take special care of herself at this time.

FOR SALE BY J. B. BELMONT, St. Louis, Mo.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

Sick stock or poultry should not get cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock food. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured. It is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Hogs gain flesh. Cows give more milk. Hens lay eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

CONVERSATION

"Old Gordon Graham" Pork Packer, Chicago, Writes to His Son Pierrepont.

Dear Pierrepont: Yours of the fourth has the right ring, and it says more to the number of words used than any letter that I have ever received from you. I remember reading once that some fellows use language to conceal thought; but it's been my experience that a good many more use it instead of thought.

A business man's conversation should be regulated by fewer and simpler rules than any other function of the human animal. They are: Have something to say. Say it. Stop talking.

Beginning before you know what you want to say and keeping on after you have said it lands a merchant in a lawsuit or the poorhouse, and the first is a short cut to the second. I maintain a legal department here, and it costs a lot of money, but it's to keep me from going to law.

It's all right when you are calling on a girl or talking with friends after dinner to run a conversation like a Sunday school excursion, with stops to pick flowers; but in the office your sentences should be the shortest possible between periods. Cut out the introduction and the peroration, and stop before you get to secondly. You've got to preach short sermons to catch sinners; and deacons won't believe they need long ones themselves. Give fools the first and women the last word. The meat's always in the middle of the sandwich.

Of course, a little butter on either side of it doesn't do any harm if it's intended for a man who likes butter. Remember, too, that it's easier to look wise than to talk wisdom. Say less than the other fellow and listen more than you talk; for when a man's listening he isn't telling on himself and he's flattering the fellow who is. Give most men a good listener and most women enough note-paper and they'll tell all they know.

VACATIONS. I hear a good deal about men who won't take vacations, and who kill themselves by overwork, but it's usually worry or whiskey. It's not what man does during working-hours, but after them, that breaks down his health. A fellow and his business should be bosom friends in the office and sworn enemies out of it. A clear mind is one that is swept clean of business at six o'clock every night and isn't opened up to it again until after the shutters are taken down next morning.

Some fellows leave the office at night and start out to whoop it up with the boys, and some go home to sit up with their troubles—they're both in bad company. They're the men who are always needing vacations, and never getting any good out of them. What every man does need once a year is a change of work—that is if he's curved up over a desk for fifty weeks and subsisting on birds and burgundy, he ought to take to fishing for a living and try bacon and eggs, with a little spring water, for dinner.

PLAY. Of course, all this is going to take so much time and thought that you won't have a very wide margin left for golf—especially in the afternoon. I simply mention this in passing, because I see in the Chicago papers which have been sent me that you were among the players on the links one afternoon a fortnight ago. Golf's a nice, foolish game, and there ain't any harm in it so far as I know, except for the balls—the stiff balls at the beginning, the lost balls in the middle, and the highballs at the end of the game. But a young fellow who wants to be a boss butcher, hasn't much daylight to waste on any kind of links except sausage links.

Of course a man should have a certain amount of play, just as a boy is entitled to a piece of pie at the end of his dinner, but he don't want to make a meal of it. Any one who lets sinkers take the place of bread and meat gets bilious pretty young; and these fellows who haven't any job, except to blow the old man's dollars, are a good deal like the little niggers in the pleating contest at the county fair—they've a plenty of pastry and they're attracting a heap of attention, but they've got a stomach ache coming to them by and by.

APPEARANCES. I don't mean that you should dress a man who is affable and approachable, but you want to learn to distinguish between him and one who is too affable and too approachable. The adverb makes the difference between a good and a bad fellow. The bunch men aren't all at the county fair, and they don't all operate with the little shells and the elusive pea.

MANAGING MEN. Consider carefully before you say a hard word to a man, but never let a chance to say a good one go by. Praise judiciously bestowed is money invested.

Never learn anything about your men except from themselves. A good manager needs no detectives, and the fellow who can't read human nature can't manage it. The phonograph records of a fellow's character are lined in his face, and a man's days tell the secrets of his nights.

Be slow to hire and quick to fire. The time to discover incompatibility of temper and curl papers is before the marriage ceremony. But when you find that you've hired the wrong man, you can't get rid of him too quick. Pay him an extra month, but don't let him stay another day. A discharged clerk in the office is like a splinter in the thumb—a center of soreness. There are no exceptions to this rule, because there are no exceptions to human nature.

Never threaten, because a threat is a promise to pay that it isn't always convenient to meet, but if you don't make it good it hurts your credit. Save a threat till you're ready to act, and then you won't need it. In all your dealings, remember that to-day is your opportunity; to-morrow some other fellow's.

Keep close to your men. When a fellow's sitting on top of a mountain he's in a mighty dignified and exalted position, but if he's gazing at the clouds, he's missing a heap of interesting and important doings down in the valley. Never lose your dignity, of course, but tie it up in all the red tape you can find around the office, and tuck it away in the safe.

It's easy for a boss to awe his clerks but a man who is feared to his face is hated behind his back. A competent boss can move among his men without having to draw an imaginary line between them, because they will see the real one if it exists.

Besides keeping in touch with your office men, you want to feel your salesmen all the time. Send each of them a letter every day, so that they won't forget that you are making goods for which we need orders; and insist on their sending you a line every day, whether they have anything to say or not. When a fellow has to write in six times a week to the house, he uses up his explanations mighty fast, and he's pretty apt to hustle for business to make his seventh letter interesting.

Right here I want to repeat that in keeping track of others and their faults it's very, very important that you shouldn't lose sight of your own. Authority swells up some fellows so that they can't see their corns; but a wise man tries to cure his own while remembering not to tread on his neighbor's.

ROOSTERS. "I've heard a good deal in my time about the foolishness of hens, but when it comes to right-down, plum foolishness, give me a rooster, every time. He's always strutting and stretching and crowing and bragging about things with which he had nothing to do. When the sun rises, you'd think that he was making all the light, instead of all the noise; when the farmer's wife throws the scraps in the henyard, he crows as if he was the provider for the whole farmyard and was asking a blessing on the food; when he meets another rooster, he crows; and when the other rooster licks him, he crows; and so he keeps it up straight through the day. He even wakes up during the night and crows a little on general principles. But when you hear from a hen, she's laid an egg, and she don't make a great deal of noise about it, either."

THOROUGHNESS. You've got to believe that the Lord made the first hog with the Graham brand burned in the skin, and that Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition, beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine is cloudy or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling how to get it. Thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DIED GAMESLY

San Miguel Continued to Fire After He Was Down.

Details of His Death, and the Engagement in Which it Occurred, Show how Brave the Outlaw Was.

Washington, May 11.—Unofficial reports received at the war department give additional details of the campaign which resulted in the death of "General" San Miguel and the utter rout of his band of outlaws by the Philippine scouts, commanded by Lieut. Nickerson and Reese. The scouts located San Miguel's band about half way between Calocan and Mariguina, in a strongly fortified corral and blockhouse built by the Spaniards many years ago and well concealed by jungle that it had escaped discovery. Lieut. Nickerson and Lieut. Reese and their men made a gallant attack on this stronghold, under a very heavy fire from the enemy, through the loopholes in the wall around the blockhouse. The scouts charged over the wall, and engaged the enemy in a hand-to-hand combat, driving them into the fort. In this assault Lieut. Reese was shot through the thigh just below the groin.

San Miguel, surrounded by a devoted bodyguard of about thirty men, undertook to slip through the line, but being discovered, put up a plucky running fight. Lieut. Nickerson, with fifteen men, attacked San Miguel's party, but withheld their fire until within short range, when they put three bullets through San Miguel's body. San Miguel died gamesly, shooting while lying on the ground wounded.

Six of his bodyguard were killed. The remainder escaped to the dense jungle.

The fight lasted about an hour. The enemy lost forty dead that were counted, and the jungle concealed other killed and wounded. No prisoners were taken. Many valuable papers were found on the bodies of the dead and wounded, which are said to contain evidence against several prominent officials in the province.

Too Great a Risk. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of cholera or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

The representation in the county convention shall be one delegate for each 25 or fraction over 12 votes cast for McKinley for President in 1900; and the basis of representation in the district convention shall be one vote for each 100 or fraction over 50 votes cast for McKinley for President in 1900. Looking for a Moses. A number of mill girls of New Jersey have issued the following remarkable open letter:

"Who will be our Moses? The girls of such and such mills want to leave work at 5 o'clock evening and have Saturday half holiday every week in June, July and August. The man who can gain this for us (if single) can marry the belle of either shop, the belle to be voted for by the other girls." It is safe to say that each "belle" will be entitled to one personal vote.

A PROMINENT COLLEGE MAN.

One of Indiana's Useful Educators Says: "I Feel Like a New Man."

MR. JOHN W. MENG.

Mr. John W. Meng, 54 Jefferson Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., State Representative of Indianapolis Business College, writes:

"I firmly believe that I owe my fine health to Peruna. Constant travel and change of food and water wrought havoc with my stomach, and for months I suffered with indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. I felt that the only thing to do was to give up my occupation which I felt very reluctant to do. Seeing an ad. of Peruna as a specific for catarrh I decided to give it a trial, and used it faithfully for six weeks, when I found that my troubles had all disappeared and I seemed like a new man. I have a bottle of Peruna in my grip all the time, and occasionally take a few doses which keeps me in excellent health."

John W. Meng.

THE most common phases of summer catarrh are catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Peruna is a specific for summer catarrh.

need a good remedy. A tonic is excellent. In the short time I have used it has done me a great deal of good."

Willis Brewer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THE MILLER.

Since time began it has been in vogue. To call a miller a heartless rogue. He may be honest, true and brave. But still he's called the city knave. He grinds your grist and takes his toll just what was right, but then he stole. For nothing good was ever said. About a miller until he was dead.

Some of the patrons will insist. He stole their sacks as well as grist. Then they try to make it seem. He followed around to steal the team. The people call him the city thief. Of all sinners he is chief; He'd better be dead and in Shoel. Than try to live by taking toll.

So if by labor you exist, Just swear you'll never grind a grist: Work at something, beg or burst. And save yourself from getting cursed.

Beg, steal, lie or kill, But never run a custom mill. Of any trade that e'er had birth. This one is more than life in worth.

Then let me die with the sad refrain, I never shall take a toll again; Whether I go above or below, 'Twill matter but little to friend or foe.

Two men were killed and two fatally wounded in a street duel at Yazoo City, Miss., Saturday. The center of feudism seems to have moved South.

We desire to call the attention of the defunct candidates before the primary last Saturday to the vacancy in the office of Coroner in Breathitt county.

The long cherished dream of a railroad for Hartford seems about to be realized. Any individual who stands in the way of the success of the enterprise should be driven into exile.

Last Saturday (Democratic primary election) was tremendously quiet and appallingly gloomy here in Hartford. Coming events had already cast their shadow before.

Twenty-six farmers in Davies county have organized themselves into an Insurance Association. It has for its object the mutual protection of the property of its members from fire and storm.

We purchased the territory of Louisiana for $15,000,000. We certainly consider this a great bargain, for we are now making preparation to celebrate the event with a $30,000,000 Fair.

MAYBE the outrageous theft and wholesale fraud committed over the State last Saturday in the Democratic primary was only an organized effort to make the Music Hall convention appear "respectable."

The Office Holder's Trust at Frankfort cares about as much for the Post Mortem statements of its victims as it would for an excited chairman's report of one of Bjornstjern Bjornson's poems backwards in his native tongue.

MANY counties in Kentucky are enjoying the convenience of rural delivery mail routes. It is safe to predict that Ohio county will never get a free delivery route until she gets her public highways in a condition to justify it.

THEY do things funny down in Florida sometimes. The legislature passed a resolution demanding a constitutional amendment, providing for the election of U. S. Senators by a direct vote. Immediately it passed another asking the Governor to veto the first, and he "done" it.

Gov. BRADY, of Alaska, suggests that the territory over which he presides, be divided into two states, and that one of them be named Lincoln and the other Seward. Something should have been done long ago towards advancing the political status of Alaska, and should it be divided into states, no names could be more appropriate than those suggested.

It has been rumored in certain quarters that a Democratic primary was "pulled off" here last Saturday. This might or might not be true, however, for, indirectly or inversely, perhaps more, or possibly less, as is usual in such cases, and still it may or may not be, according to whether it did or did not occur, but also besides, it is not always, as heretofore described, possibly, yet we wouldn't be dogmatic about anything which might be doubtful.

MORRIS BELKNAP has expressed his willingness to accept the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He is a young man of the finest educational attainments. His war record is highly creditable, while his business life has been eminently successful and commendable. What a striking contrast there would be between a Republican ticket headed by this honorable and chivalric young Kentuckian, and the gang who, in the language of the Post, obtained their so-called nominations by highway robbery last Saturday.

The remains of Alexander R. Shepherd were exhumed in Mexico and buried in Washington last week with imposing ceremonies. His life was a portrayal of the fickleness of public sentiment. While Governor of the District of Columbia, 30 years ago, he conceived the future greatness of the nation's capital and inaugurated a system of improvements on a grand scale. Public sentiment rebelled at the cost of these expensive embellishments and drove Shepherd into exile. Subsequent years have proven his long-sighted policy to be wise and public sentiment has swung round and made him a hero, heaping every possible encomium upon him. Man never knows whether posterity will view him as a tyrant or place his stature in a hall of fame.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Here is what a Democrat, Deputy Jailer H. F. Garr, says: "The robbery was appalling. Had Chenault had the vote of every citizen of Louisville cast in some of the precincts, he would have been outcounted in these places three to one. The election officers had been so well drilled that not a semblance of a chance was left to any man not on the ticket. The machine men, to my actual knowledge, began preparing ballots Friday night, and before 1 o'clock Saturday morning, had big lots of signed ballots ready for service in case of need. Where Chenault had representatives to look after his interests these bogus ballots were not used until after the polls were closed at 4 o'clock. Then they were put in to vote active service. We caught these fellows in the act of stuffing the boxes. There can be no doubt about it. We saw the operation with our own eyes, and in the face of our objections we were told that we were lucky to get as many votes as we did."

"No trick and no scheme was too outrageous for them to use."

GOOD SHOWING

Ohio County Drops Into Line

With Fifteen Common School Graduates--Commencement Exercises to be Held at Institute.

At the examination held here Friday and Saturday for Common School Graduation there were sixteen applicants, fifteen of whom passed successfully.

The examination was rather a difficult one. The highest grade was made by Mr. P. C. Miller, whose general average was 93.45 per cent.

Heretofore, little or no attention has been paid to these examinations, but repeated efforts along this line have at last been rewarded.

Ohio county has only three graduates to its credit, and two of them live in Breckenridge county, the other one being Miss Irene Whittinghill, of Trisler.

A new feature of the Institute this year will be the commencement exercises of the graduates. Those who will receive diplomas of graduation are:

John Hamilton, Adaburgh; Clarence Bennett, Narrows; T. Wade Stratton, Hartford; Oscar Shultz, Narrows; William S. Hill, Cervalvo; P. C. Miller, Hartford; Otis Kinley, Smallhous; Lonnie Leach, Rosine; C. O. Hunter, Smallhous; I. J. Hoover, Friedland; Garfield Brown, Breckinridge; Alex. Boswell, Narrows; Clarence E. Allen, Rosine; and Will Taylor, L. J. French, Prentiss.

A. Henderson, A. J. Harris, Harve Mitchell and C. C. Brown were elected trustees of Fordsville Graded School, and J. D. Williams and J. P. McKenney of Beaver Dam Graded School at the recent election.

Sunday School Convention.

The Ohio County Sunday School convention will meet in Hartford on May 30, 1913. Each Sunday school in the county is requested to send two or more delegates, also a report of their work. Take a collection of ten cents each for each officer and teacher and two cents for each pupil. This is for the support of the State work. All delegates will be entertained by the local committee, D. E. Thomas, chairman, Hartford. Rev. T. C. Gebauer, Sunday School field worker of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, will conduct the work. Don't fail to have your Sunday school represented and let's have the best convention in our history.

Peculiar To Itself

In what it is and what it does—containing the best blood-purifying, alterative and tonic substances and effecting the most radical and permanent cures of all humors and all eruptions, relieving weak, tired, languid feelings, and building up the whole system—is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No other medicine acts like it; no other medicine has done so much real, substantial good, no other medicine has restored health and strength at so little cost.

"I was troubled with scrofula and came near losing my eyesight. For four months I could not see to do anything. After taking two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I could see as well as ever." SUSIE A. HARRIS, Withers, N.C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

A CONTRACT

Has Been Signed for Building the Interurban Railroad.

Work on Construction will Begin Within Sixty Days.

Freight and Passenger Line Goes to Hartford by way of Curdsville and Calhoun.

A contract was signed Saturday afternoon by a number of local men and the representatives of the Cincinnati syndicate which makes it a certainty that the electric railroad will be constructed between Owensboro and Hartford and to the McHenry Mines beyond that town. Active preparations have been making for several days and the plan has been under consideration for six months. Mr. Wade Cushing, the representative of the Cincinnati concern which will furnish the large part of the money for the construction, stated last night that the road will be under construction within sixty days and will be completed in six months. The company which will be known as the Owensboro and Hartford Railway Company, will probably be incorporated within the next few days, the organization being now practically accomplished.

The local men who signed the contract yesterday are Charles Broeker, James H. Parrish, F. T. Gunther, R. H. Hughes, John G. Delker, A. C. Tompkins and Dr. J. H. Hickman. By the contract they bind themselves to take $80,000 of the capital stock of the company which will be incorporated at $600,000. The contract was signed also by Mr. Cushing as the representative of the Cincinnati syndicate, which will subscribe for 55 per cent, of the capital stock, and by R. Rice of Louisville, and Charles Valler, of St. Louis. The concern represented by Mr. Cushing is, both financially and influentially, one of the strongest in the State of Ohio and has built a number of interurban railroads on the same plan as is mapped out for the Owensboro and Hartford road.

According to the present plan fifty-five miles of road will be built at an approximate cost of $22,000 a mile. The construction will be on the steam road basis and will be as durable as any road in the country.

Hartford parties have raised $20,000 which is being held in readiness and will be turned in to the company when the preliminary arrangements are completed.—Owensboro Inquirer.

The possibility of a railroad for Hartford seems about to be a certainty at last. Rowan Holbrook, who has been the most active of all the promoters, says that the only question about the building of the road will be the raising of $200,000 and the securing of the right-of-way. The road will be invaluable to the country through which it will pass, and no man ought to hesitate for a moment to grant the company the right of way through his lands.

The success of the enterprise means much to Hartford. It is situated in the center of a fine agricultural country and its direct connection by rail with the outside world will enhance the value of real estate one hundred per cent. If every citizen of Hartford had the public spirit of Rowan Holbrook, Hartford would have been connected by rail with the outside world long ago.

Every citizen in McHenry, Hartford, Calhoun and Owensboro and along the entire route ought to unite in a determined effort to secure the road.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. Philo C. Dix, of Henderson, will speak to the Men of Beaver Dam next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the room over the Deposit Bank. All men are invited to come out and hear him. He is a very interesting speaker.

The Hartford Y. M. C. A. Boys are planning to have a days outing on the 23rd of this month. All the members of the boys department who have the consent of their parents will be permitted to go. A good time is anticipated. Hartford has one of the best, if not the best, boys' departments in the State in connection with a County organization.

The Boys Bible classes are held every Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and are always well attended. The boys meetings on Sunday afternoon are well attended, and are very helpful to the boys. They enjoy the meetings, too. All boys of 15 years and under are invited to the Sunday afternoon meetings, whether members of the boys department or not.

The Men's meeting was well attended on last Sunday afternoon, and the discussion was interesting. A good interest was manifested. All men are invited to attend these meetings. They are open to the public, and are held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, which are located in the building formerly occupied by THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Mr. Philo C. Dix, of Henderson, visited Secretary E. A. Cottrell on last Friday. He is the Department Secretary of the State Committee for Western Kentucky. The State Committee has planned to organize the counties in groups of eight or ten counties, and Mr. Dix has been selected to devote his entire time to the development and extension of the work in Western Kentucky. He succeeds Mr. Jno. Lake in this part of the State, and another man will be placed in the central part of the State.

Mr. Dix has served in various departments of the Association movement, having served in the Associations of Montgomery, Ala.; New Orleans, La., and in the army work. He is a graduate of the Chicago Association Training school, and for the past several years has been General Secretary of the Henderson Association. He is in every way well qualified for the work to which he has lately been chosen, and we predict for him a brilliant career as Department Secretary of the County Work in Western Kentucky. A. E. C.

SAVANTS TO GATHER.

International Congress a Feature at 1904 World's Fair.

WILL ASSEMBLE IN SEPTEMBER.

Men of Science From All Parts of the World Will Convene in St. Louis and in One Week Will Deliver 800 Addresses.

A series of international congresses will be held Sept. 18-25, 1904, at the World's fair. The sum of $200,000 is appropriated to cover the expenses of the international congresses. Such scholars as accept invitations to participate in the congress, and do a specified piece of work in accordance with the plan adopted, will receive an honorarium for papers and traveling expenses. The authorities of the universal exposition have from the first time the educational influence of an exposition are made the dominant factor, and the classification and installation of exhibits made contributory to that principle.

The administrative work was organized in November, 1902, by the appointment of Howard J. Rogers as Director of Congresses and the election of the following administrative board:

Nicholas Murray Butler, Ph. D., LL. D., President Columbia university, New York, chairman.
William R. Harper, D. D., LL. D., President University of Chicago.
R. H. Jesse, Ph. D., LL. D., President University State of Missouri.
Henry S. Pritchett, Ph. D., LL. D., President Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston.
Herbert Putnam, Litt. D., Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C.
Frederick J. V. Skiff, Director Field Columbian Museum, Chicago.
Frederick W. Hollis, D. C. L., New York, member Haeze tribunal.

Dr. Simon Newcomb of Washington, D. C., will be the presiding officer of the international Congress of Arts and Sciences, and for vice presidents will have the assistance of Professor Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard university and Professor Albin W. Small of the University of Chicago.

The Congress of Arts and Sciences will have one definite task: to demonstrate the unity of knowledge and thus bring harmony and interrelation into the scattered scientific work of our day. Leading scholars from the whole world are to deliver lectures. The widest group will be the presence of knowledge, divided into the physical sciences, practical sciences, and theoretical sciences.

The practical sciences are divided into three main divisions: Utilitarian sciences; regulative sciences; cultural sciences.

These seven main divisions are then subdivided into the following general topics:

Normative Sciences—Philosophy, Mathematics.

Historical Sciences—Politics, Law, Economics, Language and Literature, Education, Art, Religion.

Physical Sciences—Physics and Chemistry, Astronomy, Geology, Biology, Anthropology.

Mental Sciences—Psychology, Sociology.

Utilitarian Sciences—Medical Sciences, Practical Economic Sciences, Technological Sciences.

Regulative Sciences—Practical Political Sciences, Practical Social Sciences, Practical Legal Sciences, Cultural Sciences, Practical Educational Sciences, Practical Aesthetic Sciences, Practical Religious Sciences.

On Monday the congress will be opened by one address on the "Relation of the Congress to Scientific Progress," another on the "Unity of Theoretical Sciences." The seven main divisions will also be discussed during the afternoon by an introductory address on the "Fundamental Conceptions" of each special division. Tuesday will be devoted to a consideration of the twenty-five departments of the congress, upon each of which two official addresses will be delivered, one on the history of that special department of knowledge during the last century, and one on its methods.

On the remaining four days of the week, two official addresses, one on the relation to other sciences and one on the problems of today, will be delivered, on all but one of the one hundred and thirty sections into which the twenty-five departments are divided. Sunday, the fifth, will be given over to the remaining section, and three addresses made on the "Influence of Religion on Civilization." This will provide for 321 official addresses.

ODD THINGS IN SIAM

CURIOUS CUSTOMS AND CEREMONIES THAT ARE STILL OBSERVED.

Cutting the Topknot of the Child For His Spiritual Welfare—The Wedding and Its Celebration—Cremation With Refreshments.

In Siam the cutting of the topknot is so important a ceremony for the future spiritual welfare of the child that it is most scrupulously carried out, with all the pomp and ceremony that the parents will allow. That the poor people may not be deprived of the benefit of the ceremony the government provides all that is necessary for it at one of the temples at Bangkok. The center of the ceremony is the cutting off of the topknot, which is all the hair children are permitted to wear up to that time. But associated with it are a number of purifications and other religious forms which have to be scrupulously carried out. The topknot, which is ordinarily adorned with a chaplet of flowers or beads, often held in place with a jeweled pin of considerable value, is now much more resplendently adorned, while the child is further loaded with the richest jewels the family can provide. After the ceremony the hair is allowed to grow all over the head and is usually worn about an inch long, standing up like a brush. The child is now reckoned to have reached man's estate, although, to their credit be it said, the Siamese are in no hurry to marry their children. In fact, undue haste to make a match for a daughter is apt to raise a question as to whether things are so flourishing with the family as they might be.

When marriage is thought of, it is often the result of mutual affection and takes the form of an elopement, with subsequent forgiveness by the old folk. The more formal way calls for a lot of negotiation and the payment to the parents of "a sum" which is often, however, returned to the daughter on the birth of her first child. The monks, who are the astrologers of the country among other accomplishments, are called upon to fix the lucky day, on the arrival of which the bridegroom and his friends go to the bride's house, carrying presents of cakes and betel. All Siamese chew betel, and not to offer it to a guest is a serious breach of hospitality. The gilda when ready for chewing consist of leaves of betel pepper, chips of areca nut—there is no such thing as betel nut that careless travelers write about—a little slaked lime and sometimes tobacco also. The Siamese word for this mixture is appropriately "muck." It will always be in evidence at weddings, and the preparation and presentation of the betel tray to the bridegroom constitute one of the forms of acceptance by the bride of his authority over her. The monks will be already in attendance, feasting with the best that is to be provided, and the ceremony of marriage is performed by them with the sprinkling of consecrated water over the couple.

But the greatest ceremony of all takes place after death. If the deceased is of high rank, the body is placed in a sitting posture in a large metal urn or among the commoners in an ordinary coffin. After being kept a period that lengthens with the exaltation of rank a day is fixed for the cremation. All the friends of the family are invited, and enormous sums are spent on entertaining them and providing free shows for the general public. The guests will enter the inclosure, while Chinese theaters, Siamese marionettes and plays will be provided for all who care to witness them. On entering one would be met by some member of the deceased's family bearing a black bag, into which all are invited in turn to dip a hand. It is found to contain a number of tiny balls, each of which is held low and contains a screw of paper. A Siamese figure on it refers to a similar figure on some article in one of the booths in the inclosure, and the guests are expected to present the number to the attending monks as a present whatever it represents.

There may be a dinner, but any refreshments will be provided in abundance. Just at sunset the pyre will be lighted. A stick of scented wood or a wreath of flowers made of the perfumed sandalwood, as well as a candle of unbleached wax, is handed to each guest, and lamps are lighted at the foot of the steps of the pyre. Just as with us those at the graveside perform the last office for the dead, so in Siam each one lights his candle at a lamp and places it under the urn or coffin, together with the scented stick or wreath. Buddhist monks away in one of the booths will be reciting sacred texts meanwhile, but nothing in the way of prayer, whether for the dead or the living, enters into the ceremony.

Fireworks will be let off, including a very mournful one known to the natives as the "roaring of elephants." It is made by shoving a thick bamboo very thin at one point and then making a slit. The inside is filled with composition and sealed, and this, when fired, exerts great pressure on the slit, making the edges vibrate continuously, so producing a series of loud groans of a most doleful character. When the deceased is of high rank, the king sends an old-decamp with a lamp lighted from one that is kept continually burning in the royal temple and whose light was originally obtained from a tree fired by lightning. After the cremation the ashes are collected and most of them thrown into the river, though often a few are placed in the temple in a wooden urn.—Mission Field.

A Farmer Straightened Out.
"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Patens Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'" For sale by all druggists.

Josh Billings's Great Lecture.
Josh Billings began his career as an auctioneer in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. A natural humorist and philosopher, he gathered together in the course of time a remarkable assortment of homely aphorisms, pointed anecdotes, bits of satire, etc. These he polished by trying them repeatedly on his auction-room audiences until there was not one that would not bring laughter or tears, as the case might be, from the dumbest assemblage. Finally he wrote down all these short sayings in a book, and this was his famous "Lecture."

A writer in the New York Press observes that this lecture was the most successful and lasting that was ever heard in this country. Shortly before his death, in 1885, "Josh" spoke of it as follows: "I am not only delighted, but astonished, at the vitality of the old 'lecture' which I have read for the last 23 years on the road. In the first place, every line of it was published in the New York Weekly and the Poughkeepsie papers; then it was put in 31 different books; then it was put into more than 100 newspapers as I delivered it; then I have read it in every city on this continent that has 15,000 people, and in hundreds of towns that have not 2,000 people, and it never has had anything added to it. It is now read from the same book it was first written in, and still the brave old manuscript fights a good fight. I read it 6 nights in California in 7 weeks and got $750. It seems to me there must be some sand in the old words."

Jim Dumps had tried some time in vain "o case an after-dinner pain Which gnawed at him his bet below, And filled his world with indigo. Dyspepsia now can't bother him, For "Force" has made him "Sunny Jim."

BERTILLION SYSTEM.
Chinese Immigrants Will Have to be Measured by French System.

Washington, May 11.—The immigration service has ordered ten outfits of the Bertillion system of physical measurement and is preparing to use them in the detection of Chinese. Every port of entry through which Chinese come to the United States will be supplied with the apparatus now so much used by the police officials of the different cities of the world. The outfits are to be the best that can be procured, and it is hoped to have them in full operation by the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1, if not earlier. It is believed that the system which was provided for in an appropriation by Congress will put an end to the smuggling in of Chinese laborers as merchants or former residents or citizens of this country. The certificates now in use, which photographs attached, are mere articles of merchandise in many Western cities. They are frequently to be found in pawnshops' shops, where they have considerable value because of their usefulness to Chinamen in getting into the country.

The immigration officials have concluded an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific railway which it is hoped will be effective against the stealthy schemes of Chinese seeking entrance to the United States. This agreement is for the Canadian Pacific railway to deliver direct to immigration officials at places all the Chinamen trying to come here through Canada. These places are Malone, N. Y.; Burlington, Vt.; Portal, S. D.; and Sumas, Wash. All Chinamen arriving on the steamers of the Canadian Pacific or transported over its lines, having the United States as their destination, will be delivered directly to the immigration service at these points only. Large detention buildings are being erected at these places for the purpose of housing the Chinamen.

The railroad company has agreed that those to be deported will be immediately returned to steamers for shipment to China. The advantage of the agreement is in the fact that up to this time, Montreal, Canada, has been a great cañching place for Chinamen trying to get into the United States through that direction. Canada has a head tax of $100 on Chinamen arriving and remaining there, but a period of about three months is allowed in transit. It has been the custom of those in charge of the Chinamen to hold them at Montreal long enough to avoid the head tax, but to coach the wily Orientals with stories to be told the immigration officials that they are native born Americans and are entitled to entrance as citizens. The Chinamen have been so thoroughly coached with these stories that hundreds of them have been admitted at Malone Burlington and elsewhere. During January, February and March 349 Chinamen applied for admission at Canadian border points on the ground that they were born in this country. Of this number 265 were admitted. Commissioner Sargent saw that this would not do, and made an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Company which has been described.

Immigrant officials intend to call Congress to change the Chinese exclusion laws to make Chinamen claiming admission to the United States on the ground of being citizens prove their claims instead of requiring the burden of proof to the contrary to fall upon the government. It is also proposed to allow the government the right of appeal in admitting Chinese. This right is not now granted.

The Best Liniment.
"I have derived great benefit from the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and lumbago," says Mrs. Anna Hagelgans, of Tuckahoe, N. J. "My husband used it for a sprained back and was also quickly relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would not think of being without it. I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merit are wonderful." For sale by all druggists.

"I feel it my duty to let you know that your medicine has cured my little girl of nine, of spasms. She commenced having them the age of three, and she would not grow out of them but she did not. We took her to another physician who said her trouble was epileptic fits in a mild form. I had a good remedy for myself I commenced giving it to my child. I gave her in all ten bottles of the Nerve and one of the Blood Purifier. That was over two years ago and she has not had an attack since we commenced the treatment. She is no longer troubled with nervousness and we consider her permanently cured. My mother-in-law lost her reason and was insane for three months from the effects of LaGrippe. Six bottles of Dr. Miles' Nerve cured her. My sister has also taken it for sick headache with good results. We all thank you very much for your good medicines and kind advice. All teachers in the State stand on an equal footing in this contest. The teacher with only twenty pupils may receive more votes than the teacher with five or six times as many enrolled in his or her school, because the voting is not confined to the teacher. The public will be an important factor.

Votes may be cast for any person who taught school during 1902 or is teaching now. This gives the teacher a five month school, which closed in November or December, the opportunity to be voted for during the vacation period.

ANY NUMBER OF BALLOTS MAY BE CAST AT ONE TIME. There is no limit. The more ballots cast for any one teacher the more votes he or she will be credited with.
